

Bee Gees, Stop, Think Again

From daybreak to sunset, you are the heart of me
Saying what you don't really mean
Now I know where you go and all the plans you made
Playing for a love, not a dream
All that I want you now and somehow I let you down
Lost in my pain, that where I lie
You gotta stop, think again, before you give it to him
Stop Baby, one of us got to lose
You gotta stop, think again, before you lost the heaven
Stop Baby, one of us got to try
Ohh, It's a great big world that we live in
Pleasure and pain, that's where I lie
You gotta stop, think again, before you give it to him
Stop Baby, one of us got to try
Midnight you leave me, taking the part of me
That loves you like he loves you, only more
Birds cry, my sky falls, darkness becomes my life
He got you, I got nothing to be living for
Ohh, It's a great big world that we live in
Pleasure and pain, that's where I lie
You gotta stop, think again, before you give it to him
Stop Baby, one of us, one of us, one of us
You gotta stop, think again before you lose the heaven
Stop Baby, one of us got to try
