

Bee Gees, You'll Never See My Face Again

Ev'ry single word has been spoken.
It's much too late to change your ways.
Far too many vows have been broken.
You can't expect a soul to stay.
You think that you can stand and lie.
It makes me laugh . You got no friends.
It took a thousand years to find out why.
You'll never see my face again .

You know that you've been left before this night.
It's come my turn to make it over.
I wish that ev'ry thing was coloured white.
I wish that I could be a rover.
You think that you can stand and lie.
It makes me laugh. You got no friends.
It took a thousand years to find out why.
You'll never see my face again .
