

Behind Crimson Eyes, My Love

She's the calm before the storm
Now this moment is in ease
But this lightning strike is bound to hit me
Now I'm falling into her
And I feel like I can drown
But I know she won't go and let me down
Too little, too late
Too many mistakes
My love
My love, don't leave
Never thought I'd be without you
My love, don't leave
Never thought I'd be without you
My love, I can't dream without you
She's the waves that crash on me
And her tears turn into rain
But this sour glass will filter out pain
Now she dances without the moon
And her eyes turn into light
And even the stars have faded in time
Too little, too late
Too many mistakes
My love
My love, don't leave
Never thought I'd be without you
My love, don't leave
Never thought I'd be without you
My love, I can't dream without you
My love
My love, don't leave
Never thought I'd be without you
My love, don't leave
Never thought I'd be without you
My love, I can't dream without you