

Belinda Carlisle, A Prayer For Everyone

Every child deserves love
a safe place to run and play every man deserves a chance to bring home a decent pay every race is equal Beloved in God's eyes
when I see discrimination my soul cries

Say a prayer for the lonely a prayer for the confused Say a prayer if you'd only for the secretly abused Say a prayer for the newborn with all the battles to be won Say a prayer for the tired and worn Say a prayer for everyone

Walk a mile with a stranger Put yourself in his shoes Lend a hand to an old one Good will come to you
In our heads were happy
We go our merry way
In our hearts were all afraid of our dying day

Every child deserves love
a safe place to run and play
every woman deserves a chance
to bring home a decent pay
