

Belinda Carlisle, Kneel At Your Feet

Put my trust in you when trusting's hard
Wish that I could just let down my guard
Want to feel closer than I feel
I stop myself before it gets too real

Love can hurt so much it stings
Wish that I could just forget everything
Just as I start to fall apart
You pull me back into your arms

I start to breathe
As I kneel at your feet (all I want to do)
I start to breathe
As I kneel at your feet
You can't see the other side of me

I keep it locked up safe, hide
There's so much deep inside
Like a wild wind screaming through the trees

I start to breathe
As I kneel at your feet (all I want to do)
I feel complete
As I kneel at your feet

Sometimes I'm mesmerised
By thoughts of love flowing on and on
Don't wait don't hesitate
To spend my life with you
(But this can't be true)

All I want to do
I start to breathe
As I kneel at your feet (all I want to do)
I feel complete
As I kneel at your feet (all I want to do)
I start to breathe
As I kneel at your feet