

Ben Folds, Twin Falls

Christmas, Twin Falls, Idaho's her oldest memory
she was only 2
it was the first time she felt blue cafeteria, Harrison Elementary
beneath a parachute
saw her without shoes

Seven-Up, I touched her thumb and she knew it was me
although she couldn't see unless of course she peeked my mom's good she got me out of Twin Falls, Idaho

before I got too old well, you know how that goes that's where she still was the summer she turned 17

1983
three weeks after me

so, last I heard, she had twins or maybe it was three although I've never seen that don't bother me
