Ben Folds, Uncle Walter

Come on!
your Uncle Walter's going on and on about everything he's seen and done the voice of 50 years experience he's drunk watching the television ya know, he's been around the world last night he flew to Baghdad
in his magical armchair
with cigarettes and a six pack,
yeah
we just got back
the spit's flying everywhere

hey, hey, hey!
(your Uncle Walter's going on and on)
oh, you're back so late (where did you go that you were gone so long?)
and how could you leave me here so long with Uncle Walter?
yeah...

your Uncle Walter saw who fired the shots he drove his chair in the cavalcade he's flown from South Africa to countries where they beat themselves on the backs with chains there was a fleet of battleships and one reclining chair, headed north on the Arabian sea now he's back to tell us what he and his oldest boy Blair they're getting rich with their mail order scheme

oh, oh!
(your Uncle Walter's going on and on)
we're so glad you're home
how could you leave me here so long
with Uncle Walter?

your Uncle Walter told me everything he'd do if he was President and oh what a perfect world this world would be if he was President now but he's not!

and he sees the children smoking pot he knows that in a moment they'll be shooting up heroin teardrops in his armchair a 50 minute lecture tobacco juice rolling down his chin

hey, hey, hey!
(your Uncle Walter's going on and on)
you're back so late
how could you leave me here so long
with Uncle Walter?

come on!
