

Ben Harper, Forgiven

I will wait like nothing,
I have ever waited for
I will catch your tears from falling
Until from my hands they pour
You can leave me abandoned
I'll be here if you want back in
Like the rest I have been branded far beneath the skin
So far beneath the skin

You shall be, you shall be, you shall be Forgiven
You shall be, you shall be, you shall be Forgiven

Here I have been standing
While the time has come and gone
I tried singing to you, but you turned my words to stone
Here I have been waiting,

It seems for quite a while
Changed all my reflections
But inside I'm still just a child
But inside still just a child

You shall be, you shall be, you shall be Forgiven
You shall be, you shall be, you shall be Forgiven

These eyes weren't made for crying;
This love wasn't made to waste
These arms weren't made for battle,
But to share your warm embrace

You shall be, you shall be, you shall be Forgiven
You shall be, you shall be, you shall be Forgiven
