

Ben Jelen, Christine

Christine, she tells me that she's in love again
Christine, she says that she still loves me
She stands there calling my name in her boyfriend's jacket in the rain
I guess she's in love with the whole damn world
And the whole world loves her
Won't turn without her
It has to have her
I can't live without her

Just one moment with Christine
You know exactly what I mean
She stays a night and then she leaves
Just a little hope in between
One more moment with Christine
It's like a lifetime where've I been
I want to live to the extreme
I need another taste of Christine
Oh, I need another taste, another taste of Christine

Christine, the touch of another human touch
There whispered breath falling on your skin
I don't know where to begin
Well, I just arrived, now I'm locked in
And now I'm caught in your mixed up world
And the whole world loves you
Won't turn without you
It has to have you
I can't live without you

Just one moment with Christine
You know exactly what I mean
She stays a night and then she leaves
Just a little hope in between
One more moment with Christine
It's like a lifetime where've I been
I want to live to the extreme
Won't you tell me, who is Christine?
How many times will it take for me to learn?
Tell me, are we headed for nowhere?
Christine
How many times will it take for me to learn?
Tell me, are we headed for nowhere?

And the whole world loves her...

Just one moment with Christine
You know exactly what I mean
She stays a night and then she leaves
Just a little hope in between
One more moment with Christine
It's like a lifetime where've I been
I want to live to the extreme
I need another taste of Christine

How many times does it take to learn?
How many times does it take to learn?
How many times does it take to learn?
How many times does it take to learn?
Another taste of Christine...
