

Bender, Seizures

Burn the time you steal
Hold the time that's real
Save and forfeit those that held the line
Were downed in record time and stayed upended
All you dream about is just detail
Slow it passes by, draw another line
They set the colors
Get back one mor day, until the colors fade into another
And all your giving up is like seizures all along
Stand up and give it all like seizures
All you feel is all you'll ever be
All you feel is all you are again
All you feel is all you'll ever be
All you feel is all you are again
When it comes your time, and you laugh it off a while
And God forsaken lives feel the grind
The penny that you find will never buy back pride
When all you ever had is what was turned away
And you stood witness to the beating you go on, you go on
And all your giving up is like seizures all along
Stand up and give it all like seizures
All you feel is all you'll ever be
All you feel is all you are again
All you feel is all you'll ever be You'll ever be, You'll ever be