

Berman, This Life

i watched the colors fade to gray, as all my tears got in the way, my feelings paralyzed me, but then the Son has left these scars, from forty days of wandering, the little picture on my mirror, is calling me the man behind the mask, is sellin' second chances in a pill, i have to choose between a savior, or