

Bernard Fanning, Not Finished Just Yet

why me, oh why not me?
how'd I ever get so lucky?
can you feel it on the rise with its urgent sweep?
we're not finished just yet

will you raise a smile when you see me come? or linger in the darkness I spun?
your confidence and trust are so hard won
we're not finished just yet got to get this off my chest write yourself a message of kindness sing yourself a song to reconcile how are you gonna sail a steady ship right through the tempest no we're not finished just yet
