Biffy Clyro, Weapons Are Concealed im wearing it, im wearing it under my face

my disgrace an expression and, an admission of i will try to give you something better but im sure i will make it ok im wearing it, today but im sure i will make it ok i will try to give you something better you, with the grin on your face me, with the bag in its place i've put a rope round my neck im trying to win your respect conceal the weapons

conceal the weapons death shares everything i have conceal the weapons conceal the weapons but i hate the way i

blame it on the staring match between the two of us blame it on the staring match between the two of us
