Big Bang, Anchorhea

You will never know how it feels You will never know how it takes You will never know what it brings To me But its nothing for me Days will never reach nor ever end And you will never preach nor ever sin Forever, honey, is dying And its nothing for me You will never know whats the price cause you could not ever have Money enough nor charm enough Forever, honey, is dying But its nothing for me I dont deserve any last hope If you need me You will never fall from your grace You could never stand all the weight All the lead in my brain, all my pain Its heavy enough and sweet enough But its nothing for me I dont deserve any last hope If you need me