Big Daddy Weave, Be Your Everything

When you're lost and all alone
I will be your sure way home
When your left out in the cold
I will be your shelter from the storm
When you're clouded by your doubts
You're surrounded and there's no other way out
I will be all that you need
And I'm here for the asking

Let me be your everything Let me be your everything Look at all that I will bring In exchange for what you have

Bring your sorrow bring your shame All your suffering and your pain Don't you know the price is paid If only you'll let me be Let me be your everything

When you're wandering in the darkness I will be the light that guides you And when death is standing at your doorway I will be the life inside you

When you face your deepest fears When you can't see thru all the tears I will stay throughout the years So patiently waiting Hear me saying

Neither height or depth, nor life or death The angels above or the demons beneath the sea Could ever separate you from The love in me, so won't you let me be
