

Bigwig, My So-Called Friend

You always seemed to be there for me
But somehow it seemed so superficial
Some others said you had some bad to say
And it hurts me to think that you felt that way

So I guess in the end
There's wool over my eyes
You said that you cared
You said that you did
It turns out now that's a lie

Well I'm not surprised
Just left with tears in my eyes
My so-called friend?!
And so I don't understand Your thoughts and dreams
Well they're secondhand
But when will we end this game
Your temperamental being is playing with fate

My so-called friend?!
