

Bill Nelson, Empire Of The Senses

Fools desire the things forbidden us of this rule we are all prisoners in the empire of the senses
in the empire of the senses

Is there life beyond the curtain?
All these things are so uncertain
in the empire of the senses,
in the empire of the senses

Break the rule of outside stimulus Storm the gates and free the prisoner from the empire of the senses,
from the empire of the senses