

Billie Holiday, That's life I guess

Sometimes I wonder
What's in store for me
Your love could open
Heaven's door to me
But you don't care a straw for me
That's life I guess
My days and nights
Are starting off with you
My sugar kisses taste like salt to you
But why should I find fault with you
That's life I guess.
The world was bright when you loved me
Sweet was the touch of your lips
The world went dark when you left me
And then there came a total eclipse
Nobody knows how cruel fate can be
How close together love and hate can be
Goodbye, just clean the slate for me
That's life I guess
