

Billie Myers, The Shark And The Mermaid

Without a moments hesitation
They threw caution to the wind.
He though, she must be blind not to see
He was no Prince Charming, no beauty.
She held flowers at her fingertips,
And honey fell from her lips,
He dived, into the oceans wild
As she swam in the morning mist...
He said, if it's mine it will be, always yours.
Cast away any doubt and open up those doors... It was the Shark and the Mermaid
As they grow in mind and body,
And the days turned into years.
He thought one day she might go away,
But her love overshadowed his fears.
Under the liquid sky,
Where they lived they were legends to behold.
Fate distracted by their simple charms,
Left them there to love alone.
Now the angels wait patiently, for the shadows down below, they stop and smile because... it's the Shark and the Mermaid Nobody thought that the love would last Everybody looked and everybody laughed but the Mermaid and the Shark they just slipped away
Nothing stopped them no one got in their way
Standing together as lovers and friends.
They stayed together their love knew no end,
Proving everyone wrong, they grew together
They were strong.
Everybody was wrong.
About the...
Shark and the Mermaid