

Billy Ray Cyrus, It Won't Be The Last

(Billy Ray Cyrus/Terry Shelton)

The first time I laid eyes on you I knew it must be love
From the moment you first spoke to me you were all I could think of
The first time we were together oh the time just went so fast
I recall when you first kissed me I said it won't be the last
Now it's the first time that I call our house to find out it's unplugged
It's the first time I reach out for you but you're not there to find
And it's the first time that I call your name to realize it was the past
It's the first time that you broke my heart but it won't be the last
When I think back on yesterday being in your loving arms
Like the dreams that we let slip away the memories live on
And I pray to God for answers to all the questions that I have Another night of missing you but it won't be the last
Cause it's the first time that I call our house to find out it's unplugged
It's the first time I reach out for you but you're not there to find
And it's the first time that I call your name to realize it was the past
It's the first time that you broke my heart but it won't be the last
It's the first time that you broke my heart but it won't be the last
