

Billy Ray Cyrus, Nobody

Nobody came one night in May
No one to love her on that day
Story goes the rest
Is just a shame

There was no mothers open arms
No daddy there to shield her from the harm
Just another face without a name

Nobody wins... nobody gains
Nobody there to keep the baby from the rain
It's so unfair... we all lose
Nobody there to sing a lullaby a love song or the blues
Nobody wins

Years passed and young got old
Things happened, nobody knows
Father time stole her life away
They found her in an alleyway
A cold night in the month of May
And nobody... shed a tear...

Nobody wins... nobody gains
Nobody there to keep the baby from the rain
It's so unfair... we all lose
Nobody there to sing a lullaby a love song or the blues
Nobody wins

Nobody wins

Nobody's nobody again

Nobody's nobody again...
