Billy Ray Cyrus, Somebody New

(Mike Curtis/Alex Harvey) I wish you all the best, love, love and happiness, love And everything you'd ever want to have, see or do And from the bottom of my heart I hope you never find somebody new And anyone who tells you that broken hearts mend easy Has never ever loved the way that I have loved you As long as there's a chance for us I hope you never find somebody new You have not convinced me yet to go My heart still says there's something going on And until I know we're finally through I hope you never find somebody new I'm acting like an actor, dancing like a dancer But when the curtain falls I always call out for you As long as I still love you I hope you never find somebody new You have not convinced me yet to go My heart still says there's something going on And until I know we're finally through I hope you never find somebody new I hope you never find somebody new Somebody new, somebody new...
