Blackbriar, My Soul's Demise

I will eat the bread Off of your breast To feast on your lies Your wickedness and spite Insignificant misdeeds Or horrible crimes I wouldn't think twice And make them all mine

Your death will be My soul's demise I'll carry your sins But who will carry mine? Who? Who will carry mine? Who will carry mine?

Over your lifeless chest I will drink some beer To consume your malice As a souvenir

Your death will be My soul's demise I'd do anything I love you more than life I'll carry your sins But who will carry mine? Who? Who will carry mine? Who? Who will carry mine? Who? Who will carry mine? Who will carry mine?

No one can even look me in the eye No one can even look me in the eye Everybody is flinching away from me As I pass by

Your death will be My soul's demise I'll carry your sins But who will carry mine? Who? Who will carry mine? Who will carry mine? Who will carry mine?
