Blackfield, Scars

brightest city buried in the dust lonely people stop and stare at us together you and me are getting lost the sky falls it's getting hard for me to see the truth I lost my soul and gave myself to you you are an angel and the devil too a tear falls all that I got left are my precious scars all that I got left are my precious scars

I watch a teardrop falling from your eyes you are so perfect when you cry in the corner all our endings lie alone now

it's me that you need now it's me that you love now all that I got left are my precious scars all that I got left are my precious scars

(I wish I was immune then it wouldn't hurt) (I wish I was immune then it wouldn't hurt)
