

Blackhawk, Any Man With A Heartbeat

I hate to be the jealous kind
But I know I cross over that line sometimes
Don't even wanna let her leave this house
'Cause I know the body underneath the blouse

Who's gonna jump right out of their shoes
Hang out of the window for a better view
Whose head is gonna turn walking down that street
Any man with a heartbeat

She says I'm crazy, paranoid
Two emotions I should try to avoid
Yeah it's all in my head, sure it's all my fault
There's no need to worry 'cause after all

Who's gonna whistle from the 14th floor
Trip over each other just to open her door
Who's gonna love her just as much as me
Any man with a heartbeat

Any man with red blood pumpin' through his veins
Any man who's not sound asleep
Any man who's already not six-foot under
Any man with a heartbeat

Any man with red blood pumpin' through his veins
Any man who's not sound asleep
Any man who's already not six-foot under
Any man with a heartbeat

Who's gonna jump right out of their shoes
Hang out of the window for a better view
Whose head is gonna turn walking down that street
Any man with a heartbeat

Who's gonna love her just as much as me
Any man with a heartbeat