

Blackie And The Rodeo Kings, Has Anyone Seen

There's a storm raging over the city
Lightning flashing, cars racing everywhere
In the distance you can hear the sirens screaming
And the thunder wakes a dead man with its blare
Someone said it's none of your business
She's a big girl and can care for herself alright
I know she's a woman for sure
And a big girl too
But has anyone seen my baby here tonight?

Sometimes we play a foolish game trying to see who can hurt who the most It's a foolish game at best
But she plays better than the rest
And I guess I won this foolish game tonight Before I knew what had happened
She was out the back door with no coat and tears in her eyes
Now the storm is raging loud and I don't feel so proud Tell me has anyone seen my baby here tonight?
