

Blacklisted, How Quickly We Forget (Again)

They're all coming back again
The same faces that turned their backs
Are now letting me back in
How quickly the tides change
How quickly they remember my name
Did they think I'd sit around waiting for them to stand by my side?
Did they think I'd sit around waiting for them to arrive?
They're all leaving again
The same faces that came back are now walking away
How quickly the tides change
How quickly they forgot my name
It's all water under a bridge now anyway
How quickly we forget