

Blackmore's Night, Once in a Million Years

Once in a Million Years

October reminds me of my home
The cold nights I would wait all alone
Watching leaves turning from green to gold...
The waiting feels like eternity
When waiting for love to come to me
Someone to have, someone to hold...

*Then once in a million years
A shining white knight will appear
Fairytale are coming true
I promise my heart only to you...

A castle stands upon a hill
Our eyes meet and time is standing still
Your smile warmed me like the first summer sun
There's color where once was black and white
There's moonbeams where there was only night
I knew then and there you were the one.
