

Blank & Jones, Revealed

All my friends are revealed
As no one in the sun
All that was concealed
Otherwise undone
All my holes are laid bare
Like smoke dreams in a jail
All the plans for escape
All will fail
All my time has run out
Just seconds in a jar
All nights that I owned
In Saxony and Cuba
All my faith has been lost
Like people in a flood
All the flesh that I knew
All the blood
All my friends are revealed
As no one in the sun
All that was concealed
Otherwise undone
The machine I bought to forget you
It walks in circles, neglected
The star of the East now guides me
I float to the place of remembrance
I lay an offering before Jupiter
The rust has affected travel out there
The incessant rain has penetrated the inner sanctum
I wish for you and you appears
Can you ever forgive me and trust me
All my friends are revealed
As no one in the sun
All that was concealed
Otherwise undone
All my holes are laid bare
Like smoke dreams in a jail
All the plans for escape
All will fail
All my time has run out
Just seconds in a jar
All the nights that I owned
In Saxony and Cuba
All the blood
