

Bleed from within, Damnation

Where do i begin to explain this mess Everything i touch everything i see reminds me of you and the walls begin to blur as your sweet scent fills my lungs like your still in the air.
Forced smiles caress my face sing into my ear cut out the hollow wailing within these walls.
I am angry at the world For making me feel so betrayed my heart begins to sink.
Bound to the ground my dearest shall lay until the end of eternity.
This crushing feeling of emptyness unleashed upon me i see this tragedy blinded by bloodshot eyes.
awaken me from this hell,
a lonely man i see hollow, broken clutching to the memories its only getting worse as he cries himself to sleep as the sheets absorb the tears im counting the days until we meet again.