

Blenders, Brother anyway

People of so many different cultures and so many languages
We stand amongst ourselves to stop this mad test
We work here as one and we know just what to do
And human nature it seems does the rest.
We're all making dear friends here you know
Emotionally they're the closest friends we've got Communication works better with actions and expression not with words
In fact from each other nothing is ever caught.
You may not understand what I say
That's O.K. that's O.K.
Cause I'm your brother anyway
And you're my brother anyway
And you're my sister anyway
Our languages they're just so valuable
And of course we should never underestimate their worth
But in matters of the heart they can go unnoticed
Just like the love one has for a baby at birth
If we discard our languages among our other distraction.
Then to each other we cannot lie
If we're true to each other through expression and actions
Just maybe we'll all get by.
