Blessthefall, God Wears Gucci

Take cover, run for your life
'cause I'd rather die than let you get away
Get away from me
Run,take cover and save yourself
It's ok you'll be going under
Fall to your knees is what you told to me
How can I believe?
When you live a lie
To my face it's nothing new to me
This is going too far
You let them in on your secrets
And they're not following, not following
Now the best part is over
I hope you savored the taste
You think you'll save us with your false impressions
You think it's working but you won't change me
Fall to your knees is what you told me
How can I believe
When you live a lie..
To my face it's nothing new to me
Your time is running out
You should have known better
Only you can save you now
But you won't remember[x3]
So who's going to save you now?