

BLIND, Break Away

times that I had once are done its strange to be so far away all that I pretend, is nothing in the end is this how the story ends all this time Ive been off the track I still believe its getting better how I hate the mirror staring back and I refused to see the truth I chase myself
I loose the way
my destinations out of sight
to change myself
I break away
I dont wanna wear a shattered face when all my pain feels like forever all I long for is a better shape a better shape of my tomorrows
I chase myself
I loose the way
my destinations out of sight
to change myself
I break away
all this time Ive been way off the track I blur all my weakness
I hide all my fears
I chase myself
I loose the way
my destinations out of sight
to change myself
I break away