

Blind Guardian, Traveler In Time

The Morning Sun of Dune

The holy war's waiting for the morning sun
the morning sun
the morning sun
The morning sun of Dune
there's no tomorrow the apparation of this land and it's dream makes me feel I've seen it before I can taste there's life everywhere you can find in the desert of my life I see it again and again

And again, again, again, again dark tales has brought the Dijahd like whispering echos in the wind and I'm a million miles from home

Traveler in Time
knowing that there's no rhyme

The morning sun is near first light of dawn is here the morning sun is near again The Fremen sing that their kingdom will come and I'm the leading one battlefields on our crusade filled with Sardokaur's killing machines crying in raising fear they're hiding Where do we go now?
So where is the way?
When I'm a million miles from home

The morning sun I feel all pain and sorrow the apparation of my words in these days makes me feel I've told them before all my plans will come true I'll controll destiny
in the desert of my life
I've seen it again and again

By my dreams I must find a way to stop the raging war I've to choose now
I will leave my body and seek and time will stand still when I've to leave my body and find a way back to the world I love
