

Blind Iris, Secret Garden

In a secret garden
Somewhere lost in time
He ponders forever
As she sleeps inside his mind
Lost beneath the shadows
Of a scarlet sky
She dreams of a place
Where the young never die

She knows he's out there somewhere
He whispers in her dreams
Silence blankets her with sadness
Hope pulls apart the seams

Sometimes she feels she's falling
Stars collide
Heaven's near
Broken hearts and tears she's tasted
Someone's lost I fear

She promised him forever

Each days a new beginning
When the past is left behind
She walks in the afternoon
Her distant eyes tell why

Today she looked so lonely

Her passions seemed so far away
I know someday she'll let it go
Time is all she needs

If her moon begins to bleed
Hide her heart and let her be

A promise made forever

We lived in dreams and walked through nights
Found the last star in the new daylight
Stood and faced the gentle breeze
Our arms outstretched our minds at ease
Our heaven was a shining light
That glimmered in each others sight
United by the thing we feared
Her heart was strong, my head was clear

If our moon begins to bleed
Hide your heart and let her be