

Blink-182, Happy Days

hey kid, don't quit your daydream yet i know you feel locked out in the cold seems like you're lost and alone hey kid, don't listen to your head if only fills you with dread and with doubt left looking for an easy way out

I know you don't know no, you don't know

I wanna feel happy days, happy days
happy days, happy days
walls of isolation inside of my pain and I don't know if I'm ready to change
I wanna feel happy days, happy days
happy days, happy days
walls of isolation inside of my pain
and I don't know if I'm ready to change some nights you call for the jaws of life to pull you out of the crash a forgotten ghost from your past when enough doesn't cut it when you're backed up against a wall is it the life that you wanted when you could never have it all

I wanna feel happy days, happy days
happy days, happy days
walls of isolation inside of my pain
and I don't know if I'm ready to change
I wanna feel happy days, happy days
happy days, happy days
walls of isolation inside of my pain
and I don't know if I'm ready to change face down yje the deep end face down every weekend face down and I am bleeding there's no sound when you're leaving we faced all of our demons we chased all of our dreams and don't know where it leads us we don't care at all

I wanna feel happy days, happy days
happy days, happy days
walls of isolation inside of my pain
and I don't know if I'm ready to change
I wanna feel happy days, happy days
happy days, happy days
walls of isolation inside of my pain
and I don't know if I'm ready to change