

Blink 182, Reebok Commercial

You are better than me, girls, money, and everything I try to compete with you, but you beat me at everything I do I see in you the things that I would like to be But I'm different from you,

So you will have to be like me!

I cannot be bought my personality is what I choose I was brought up without a silver cup I won't covet the things owned by you

For all the world material things are now more and more jealousy for you and me I won't covet the things owned by your store
