Bloodgood, Kingdom Come

Just once is never enough You got to try it over and over Sometimes won't satisfy you Cause constant is your number

Just like a rat in the lab You're a creature of habit You see the crack in your face And you've got to grab it

Are you ready Now the day is done Are you ready for the Kingdom Kingdom to come

Maybe you got something cookin' Maybe not is more like it Could be you're locked in a contract And there's no new negotiations

Or maybe you got tired of trying So you stopped and just let go No maybe about it There's someone you ought to know

Get ready to go Get ready to leave To be ready for judgement You must believe

Get down on your knees Put your face to the floor What ya waitin' for Waitin' for, waitin' for
