Blowsight, The simple art (Of making you mine)

This is a journey not for fun You have to bare with me Let's hold the clowns for entertainment and the girls for company And the more you shoot the more I smile Just let the bullets penetrate Hold the clowns for entertainment dance around like timberlake The more you shoot the more I smile But still I'm bleeding. So free yourself from everyone Let's turn the party on The situation is critical I want us to shine The night is still young Let's turn the tv on I'd like to call this the simple art of making you mine If I could have a nickel - for everytime I said "no" I'd be a millionare but use the cash on the new nintendo There was a part of me who loved the way you used to smile The yesterday is fucking grey - I'm glad it's been a while. So what's up with making me - it's making you the enemy I try to heal but still I'm bleeding. So what do you want? High voltage rock 'n roll! And what do you need? Blowsight in control! So free yourself from everyone Let's turn the party on The situation is critical I want us to shine The night is still young Let's turn the tv on I'd like to call this the simple art of making you mine