

Blue, How's a man supposed to change

Yo, check it out
First verse, drop it
Lord knows I'm gonna make it
To brighter days I'm on my way
I dreamed before and saw the way That I
Was misbehaving
Now I'm standing face to face
To my reflection I can't see it
My vision's blinded by the pain
'Cause that's how I feel
My mirrors broke
I've been cursed with seven years of bad luck
Will the sorrow ever change
Chorus 2x
So now my soul's in debt
I must regret
I die and live another lonely day
Tell me how a man's supposed to change
My fear is growing old unhappy
Without my loved ones next to me
Ink on my skin has nearly faded
Incarcerated for my sins
To my reflection I can't see it
My vision's blinded by the pain
'Cause that's how I feel
My mirrors broke
I've been cursed with seven years of bad luck
Will the sorrow ever change
That's right, by the pain
Chorus 2x
Blue sing
How a man's supposed to change
How am I supposed to change
Chorus
Tell me how a man's supposed to change
Tell me how a man's supposed to change
Tell me how a man's supposed to change
So now my soul's in debt
I must regret
I die and live another lonely day
Tell me how a man's supposed to change
So now my soul's in debt
I must regret
I die and live another lonely day
(to fade)
