

Blur, The man who left himself

All good people Your time will come Work forever And still not be done Close your tired eyes No one