

Bob Guiney, Craziest Girl I Know

She talks to God when my back is turned
I can't live with this I guess I'm gonna have to learn

She smiles at me when it's going wrong
It's February now and it won't be long

She's waiting for flowers to grow
In the garden I know is covered with snow
And when she leaves now where does she go
God only knows she's the craziest girl I know

She pops these pills to make her feel good again
It's February now and her hands are digging in the dirt again
