

Bob Mould, Missing You

This is how I'm feeling for some time
I'm missing you, the reasons are all mine
Treated you unkind / so miserable am I, yeah
I'm missing you, I need you here beside me now

Missing you I turned into a wreck
You don't know how bad I want you back
From pushing you aside / to wishing you were mine
Missing you I tried now I know there's some hope

Ooh, baby, I'm so sorry now, I gotta see you
Ooh, maybe you could come around and see this Stupid fool who's missing you

Just for you I grabbed a ray of hope
And shined it on the places you might go
I'll search for you all night / I'm hoping you might find out that
I'm missing you, I need you here beside me now