

Bodyjar, Starting Over

(Verse)

Only took one summer and I lost my mind
Got a sinking feeling I'll be left behind
Because you lied to me and covered it up.
There's a broken window in an empty room
Spent the morning waiting for the afternoon
And with everything, it's never enough for you

(Refrain)

Starting over
When it's a hopeless situation
Starting over
If I could make the right choice

(Verse)

I was blind to reason when you crossed the line
There was no use telling me the read the signs
Nothing there to me I covered it up
It's a long way back from where we used to be
And somewhere I ran out of blood to bleed
And with everything it's never enough for you
