

Bombay Bicycle Club, Feel

I can feel it now that you've gone
I have made you all that I want
I know you're keeping to your own sound you're running out of sight when the light goes down Said you'll be waiting 'till the night's done but there's no one
And the world went on but I always knew you'd come

Just one feeling, just one feeling
Just one feeling, just one feeling then I know
Just one feeling, just one feeling
Just one feeling, just one feeling then I know
Just one feeling, just one feeling
Just one feeling, just one feeling

I can feel it coming so clear
I can feel you already there
And I can see you with my eyes shut you're running in my head and I can't keep up Said you'll be waiting for the next one but I always knew, I always knew you'd come

Just one feeling, just one feeling
Just one feeling, just one feeling then I know
Just one feeling, just one feeling
Just one feeling, just one feeling then I know
Just one feeling, just one feeling
Just one feeling, just one feeling

Our love was long so long and then forgotten like an old song you said your life went on
but I always knew I always knew you'd come

Just one feeling, just one feeling
Just one feeling, just one feeling then I know
Just one feeling, just one feeling
Just one feeling, just one feeling then I know
Just one feeling, just one feeling
Just one feeling, just one feeling then I know
