

Bombshell Rocks, By The Blink Of An Eye

Sometimes I get this creeping fear
I don't know where to, where to go from here
Everything seems like a waste of time
It's so frustrating
Everything comes in a rhyme
Well I'm used to feeling blue
Now it's time I pay my bills
It's time I pay my dues
Oh oh! Oh yeah! I hear the bell ringing
It's time to grab hold of things

This feeling can be denied
Just for once I'm gonna do things right
From words to action by the blink of an eye
And there's so little time
I find myself falling
Falling into the unknown
I find myself falling
It's time to go

And I can't sneak out the back
No that's too easy I gotta choose my track
This is the very final call
I lift myself up
And bang myself against the wall