

Bonnie McKee, Honey

Memories haunting my evenings, eyes watching me through the moon i hope my good days aren't over not so soon....

i never have seen an angel i gave up watching the sky whisper softly to me honey but don't lie, don't you lie

i still see you when my eyes are closed and tell me why i can't let go i still smell you inside of my clothes oh, honey

someday i'll go for the glory i'll conquer everyones fears and for once the ending of the story won't be tears i have seen to much betrayel i have heard to many lies someday i'll be purple lightening in the skys

and tell me why i can't let you go
i still smell you inside of my clothes
oh, honey...
i can't love anybody but you, oh, honey...

i was alone, i was broken ehh i needed someone to love your love was sticky like honey
i said your love was sticky like honey

and tell me why i can't let go
i still smell you inside of my clothes oh, honey... woooo oyea i can't love anybody but you, i'm afraid yea but i know its true i can't find no one sweeter then you

oh, honey..... see you, fell you, touch you,,, can't let go of you honey...
