

Bonnie Raitt, My opening farewell

A lady stands before an open window looking so far away she can almost feel the southern winds k