

Born Against, 4 Nine Years Later

Nine years into the future and we're still counting the dead and the dying Still totaling the countless hidden victims of heightened state terror still believing of a peace and prosperity of a peace with a hundred thousand executed by disease of a prosperity with millions living on the streets and I've got to wonder what the fk its going to take can it be undone can we stem the tide of violence or are we gonna sit back relax and watch tv while the "have nots" get their heads kicked in keep counting the policies that failed and the lies that worked they worked we swallowed them down deep swallowed them whole.
