

Bracket, Warren's Song Pt. 15

you see me through wear and tear and your love comes without a warning you bring me to life everyday shaping my doubts your reassurance is delicate your words form a lie

I'm so sorry for what I have become if you love me, you can love anyone can I live inside your world and find solace in your affection in this foible (?) life I can still picture your breath it's singing like a symphony can I hear you tonight

I'm so sorry for what I have become
if you love me, you can love anyone

you are what I need today you are leaving me someday

I'm so sorry for what I have become
if you love me, you can love anyone